Failing school could become new academy

BY JESSICA CUNNIFFE
jessica.cunniffe@mk-news.co.uk

A SCHOOL in special measures has moved closer to becoming a controversial academy.

The Radcliffe Secondary School in Wolverton was relying on sales of its land for its rebuild scheme, before developers pulled out following the credit crunch.

Yet headteacher John O'Donnell says while exam results are improving and Ofsted has said progress is good, the Radcliffe desperately needs '21st Century' facilities.

Cabinet member for children, Cllr Sandra Clark, is due to present an urgent paper to Tuesday's cabinet meeting, identifying a preferred sponsor for the academy.

This will make Radcliffe, which currently owes the council £2.8 million, Milton Keynes' second academy. Sir Frank Markham School in Woughton is due to reopen under sponsors Edge in September.

Turning failing schools into academies was a scheme set up by Tony Blair in 2000. Private organisations put up £2million which the Government matches with several more millions.

But this has led to widespread criticism that, though it has to adhere to the national curriculum, an academy is influenced by its sponsor.

Last night Mr O'Donnell met with his Interim Executive Board, set up for schools in special measures, to discuss the future, including potential sponsors.

He said: "We're talking about young people's lives here and it would be unfair to our students to wait for the land value to increase before we make the improvements we want.

"We've got students who need and deserve 21st Century facilities.

"The sponsor has a degree of governance over the school and ethos. But we trust our sponsors will work in sympathy with the local agenda in the interests of our youngsters."

When the preferred sponsor is agreed, inspections will determine whether the school will have a refurbishment or a rebuild.

Graham Hussey, Milton Keynes' National Union of Teachers (NUT) representative, said this could be a slippery slope. We are opposed to academies on the grounds that schools have to change their selection criteria according to their sponsor. From an educational point of view academies are unproven. Some remain in special measures years after they reopened.

"I don't think parents have grasped the implications of academies. Once it becomes an academy the LEA have no control over it. It stays in private ownership forever, and the sponsor has a massive influence over the school."

Cllr Clark said: "The council fully supports the school and I will make sure views of parents are heard. We have to consider all options for the benefit of the school. For the Government, academies are the preferred option. If the land sale had gone through we wouldn't be looking at this. But our responsibility is to make sure that these children get the best education possible."

Toddler died after fall from bunk-bed

BY LAURA HANNAM
laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

A TODDLER died after falling from a bunk bed and banging her head, an inquest has heard.

Twenty-month-old Nasra Ally, who lived with her parents and five-year-old sister in Moorfoot, Fullers Slade, died on Tuesday, June 9 at John Radcliffe Hospital in Oxford.

An inquest opened in Milton Keynes on Monday heard how she suffered severe head injuries when she fell from a bunk bed while she was at a friend's flat in Weavers Hill, Fullers Slade.

Nasra was playing with another child at around 2.30pm when an adult in the neighbouring room heard a thud.

She was found on the floor crying with a lump on her head, while the other child was on the top bunk.

Nasra fell asleep and could not be woken. She was taken to her GP who tried to resuscitate her and admitted her to Milton Keynes Hospital.

She was transferred for an operation at John Radcliffe in Oxford, but her injuries were too severe and she was confirmed dead at 6.25pm in the children's intensive care unit.

The inquest was adjourned to await the results of a post mortem.

Nasra was born in Rotherham on October 20, 2007. She moved with her parents and sister Nawal to Milton Keynes shortly after she was born.

Her father Ally who works in London as a builder, said: "She was a cheerful and healthy child."

Conning couple defrauded householders of thousands

A COUPLE posed as affluent house buyers to scam thousands of pounds out of sellers by squatting in their vacant properties.

Richard Jerome, 62, and his wife Hazel, 60, appeared at Huntingdon Crown Court on Monday and pleaded guilty to fraud.

The scam started in March 2006 when the couple offered cash to buy a £250,000 property in Bradville from a work colleague of Mrs Jerome, who was then a teacher at Willen Primary School.

They then offered to rent the property until the sale was completed. Once in the property they failed to pay the agreed rent and refused to leave.

It took 12 months for the couple to be evicted.

The couple repeated the scam a second time in March 2007 on a £575,000 thatched cottage in Stoke Hammond. They were finally evicted in September 2007 after failing to pay any rent.

The owners lost £167,000 including a £55,000 deposit which was never paid, £8,400 rent, loss of value in the home which eventually sold for £475,000 plus legal costs.

Full details of the scam were uncovered after the couple were arrested by police in Milton Keynes in January 2008 for driving a stolen car.

Reired Detective Sergeant John Baston said: "Mr Jerome portrayed himself as a successful international businessman with properties in the Caribbean and she was a teacher. They knew how to say the right thing and pitched an offer which seemed too good to be true and of course it was."

He added: "I am pleased that the Jeromes finally have to face up to the consequences of their actions. Two of the victims died before they could get to see justice done."

The couple, who currently live in McCorquodale Road, Wolverton, pleaded guilty to two charges of fraud on Monday.

Richard Jerome also pleaded guilty to an additional charge of fraud and a charge of obtaining money by deception.

They have been granted bail and will be sentenced on July 14.

It is understood Hazel Jerome no longer works at Willen Combined School.

Cops help council with traffic spot checks

THE council is holding travel surveys on all routes into Milton Keynes.

Over a three week period, which started yesterday, roadside interviews are being carried out and drivers will be asked about their travel plans for the day; where their journey started, where it will end and the reason for the journey.

Up to three sites per day will be surveyed from 7am to 7pm. They will be manned by police officers who will ask vehicles to stop.

The interviewers will also note the number of people in the vehicle and record the vehicle type (ie car, HGV etc).

Cllr Alan Mallyon, cabinet member for transport said: "We do not indicate in advance where the surveys will be as this could affect normal travel patterns, which in turn will reduce our ability to understand what happens on a typical day in Milton Keynes. Motorists should stick to their usual routes as sites will only be surveyed once."

"We will use this information to help plan our transport networks so that they best serve the people of MK and keep MK moving."

Olympic star wins birthday honour

Medallist thought her mates were 'mucking about' when Queen's letter arrived

BY JESSICA CUNNIFFE
jessica.cunniffe@mk-news.co.uk

SERVICES to sport, agriculture and young people are the reasons why the Queen made three city people MBEs in her Birthday Honours List.

When she received the letter asking her to accept the title of Member of the Order of the British Empire, Olympic silver-medallist and former badminton world number one Gail Emms thought it was just her 'mates mucking about'.

Gail, 31, who lives in MK and is based at the National Badminton Centre in Milton Keynes, said: "When I realised that the very posh letter was real I thought 'oh my God'. It was a big shock. I had to sit down just to take it in."

Now retired she takes her Olympics medal around the country as ambassador for Badminton England, but has vowed to keep the MBE 'securely locked up'.

"It's a different feeling to winning sporting medals. When you go out and win medals it's all about you representing your country. This is more like a recognition and appreciation of your hard work."

The Honourable Richard Godber, 71, from Little Linford, adds MBE to his titles, already holding the position of Deputy Lieutenant of Buckinghamshire.

He has been recognised for his work in both agriculture and with young people having spent years as chairman of the Boys' Clubs across the county.

With a background in horticulture and farming he was heavily involved in the Parks Trust and Development Corporation. He was on Winslow District Council in the days when Tattenhoe had just four residents.

"When I got the letter saying 'would you accept' this I just thought it was a great honour. But if it hadn't been for all the people working with me I would never have got it. It's a great privilege."

Christine Chapman, 64, from Cosgrove was honoured for her 25 years at Rowans Support Project in Fullers Slade after retiring as project manager earlier this year.

Jennifer Barry, her former colleague from the Action for Children charity, said: "We are all thrilled for her. She thoroughly deserves it."

Sainsbury's try something on with illegal road signs

SUPERMARKET giants Sainsbury's has been fined for illegally placing directional signs to its new store in Central Milton Keynes.

Sainsbury's pleaded guilty to eight counts of illegal advertising under section 224 of the Town and Country Planning Act 1990,with a further 104 offences being taken into consideration.

Officers from the safer communities unit took action after discovering that over a hundred yellow and black signs had been put up to guide people to the new superstore in Witan Gate, Central Milton Keynes, when it opened in October 2008.

In a letter to Milton Keynes Council, a spokesman for Sainsbury's Supermarkets Ltd admitted that it had engaged the services of a company to put up the signs knowing no permission had been granted.

They were ordered to pay a total of £8,000 at Milton Keynes Magistrates Court on Friday including £400 costs to Milton Keynes Council.

Safer communities manager Pete Roberts said: "This is the single largest case of illegal advertising that MK has had to deal with.

"Illegal directional signs are seen as a cheap form of advertising for businesses attempting to get a competitive advantage and doing so on this scale shows scant regard for local residents and the local authority."

Health chiefs ready for swine flu outbreak

HEALTH chiefs say they are ready to face the challenge of the swine flu pandemic hitting Milton Keynes.

NHS Milton Keynes has released a statement to reassure local people that it is prepared in case of an outbreak in the city.

It came after the World Health Organisation (WHO) raised the awareness level to six, the highest possible.

On Monday a 38-year-old woman in Scotland was the first person in Europe to die after catching the virus. There have been 1,261 cases in the UK.

Last month the first person in Milton Keynes was confirmed to be suffering from swine flu after returning from the US. The health service said this person has recovered well at home with the help of antiviral medication.

Four students were diagnosed with the virus at Stowe School, near Buckingham on Friday, June 5. The boarding school reopened on Sunday evening after being shut down for ten days due to the outbreak.

Dr Diane Gray, deputy director of public health for NHS Milton Keynes, said: "The WHO's actions in raising the pandemic level to six may understandably cause concern to local people, but I would like to reassure them that we are constantly reviewing plans to ensure we are ready to face the challenges that a pandemic will present."

MK LETTERS

Letters to The Editor, MK NEWS, 1 Diamond Court, Fox Milne, Milton Keynes MK15 0DU | letters@mk-news.co.uk

Not up to speed

SIR – Regarding broadband speed – I currently use Freedom2surf[F2s] at home.

I am paying for up to 16mbps but am lucky if I get between 2-6mbps.

I have up-to-date equipment but still no luck.

Another annoying thing is the mail is always down and they say it's the exchange and work is being done – I live about 300 yards from the exchange.

I can fully understand why small and large companies would thing twice before moving to MK as the speed is so slow.

Other EU countries do not seem to have this problem.

Eco-friendly shopping

SIR – Why is competition not good? I have lived in Newport Pagnell all my life and believe that the addition of some competition is a good thing for the town.

There have been lots of comments about there already being a Somerfield and a Co-op in the town, but they are both owned by the Co-op so there is no competition there.

Also, I know that there is a Tesco Express on Green Park, but saying we 'already have a Tesco so we shouldn't have another' is like saying we are only allowed one Londis, Spar or Co-op and, based on that logic, should the Co-op be made to close two of its three shops in the town (Co-op High Street, Somerfield High Street and Co-op Wordsworth Avenue)?

The main bakery is part of a chain of bakeries and has products delivered in every day.

I understand that the butchers and greengrocers could be concerned but, nowadays, lots and lots of people are interested in how local their produce is.

Based on this I don't plan on stopping my weekly trips to the butchers and greengrocers but, if Tesco opens I will stop driving out of town to go to Kingston, hopefully that'll help the environment a little!

Sent by e-mail

■ SIR – No-one wants a Tesco in Newport Pagnell High Street so just say no and then people might like the council.

Redway caution

SIR – Regarding last week's front page 'Police step up search for redways sex beast'.

That kind of behaviour is disgusting and disgraceful and the sooner the police catch that man, the better.

Maybe they will start being more cautious around redways.

Maybe they should have security patrolling around the redways and therefore, if he tries to attack, then someone will be there for protection.

Gemma
Sent by e-mail

■ SIR – re the sex beast. I find this very worrying as I'm only 14 and to think my safe town is being ruined.

It's awful, there should be officers walking the streets near where there are not a lot of houses and officers updating you and young children about what's going around Milton Keynes.

This man has to stop. People in Milton Keynes should help and keep safe, don't be alone, always be with someone.

Jess B

Wheelie bad idea

SIR – As a disabled resident confined to a wheelchair, I most certainly do not want the current rubbish system to change.

To have to place a wheelie bin out each collection day and then try to retrieve it from whereever the dustmen have left it would be a real problem for me.

On top of which I just don't have room in my small garden for the likes of these bins.

I have already purchased a container to put my sacks in and this system works very well for me.

I also have not seen nor completed any survey.

Michael Bannister
Emerson Valley

Oxleymorons

SIR – I have been reading the extensive submissions from local residents opposing the new bus service for Oxley Park.

Firstly, I would firstly agree that the speed these services are travelling at in such built-up area is not acceptable.

However, it's interesting to see no one has mentioned cars being parked in the area as their true concern.

It's frustrating to say the least that people park where cars are not meant to be parked.

Our private parking areas are mainly located behind our houses where our garages are.

Yet, for convenience-sake, residents are parking on the main road and occupying all of the guest parking on Harlow Cresent.

Visiting family or friends have no means to park safely without causing problems with road access.

Has the bus service been introduced to help non-residents enter Oxley Park? Maybe so.

When going green means three seats instead of two

SIR – I read with amusement your small article on the increase in length of the 9.21 to Euston.

However, the ridiculous comment from London Midland's spokesman Stephen Banaghan suggesting this illustrates their willingness to listen to, and act on, the views of their customers made me angry.

If they were so willing to listen why did it require action from an MP to effect a change?

I am in the fortunate position of not needing to travel every day and not at peak times but, even so, have noticed how rapidly the rail service from Milton Keynes to Euston is getting worse, not better, since London Midland took over the franchise.

The trains are shorter and less frequent at key times and the fact that there are no fully fast services until quite late in the morning is lamentable.

The newer, green-seated rolling stock where three seats are crammed into the space occupied by two seats on the blue seated variety are, frankly, dangerous when filled with standing passengers and give no room for passengers to sit comfortably and perhaps even work whilst traveling.

The staff at MK station are increasingly demotivated and one even told me they would leave tomorrow if they could find a job elsewhere.

There is clearly a serious failure or incompetence in management if staff are that fed up.

The impending closure of the Travel Centre will make queues longer at the ticket office and still the machines do not issue restricted tickets in advance of their validity making purchase at the ticket office the only option.

Don't get me started on the parking!

I thought that we were to be encouraged to travel by rail as it is the modern, ecological option?

This is clearly not the case when companies like London Midland are involved.

I think a concerted campaign by your paper is required to improve the transport links to and from Milton Keynes before it goes beyond a joke.

Flu preparations

SIR – Further to Dr Gray's letter last week from the PCT, I am writing to confirm that Milton Keynes Council is also making preparations in the event of pandemic flu coming to Milton Keynes this autumn.

These include making sure that our priority services keep going, managing on reduced staff numbers and communication throughout the borough on what is happening.

Sam Crooks
Leader of MK Council

TESNO thanks

SIR – I would like to express my thanks to everyone who turned up at Full Council on June 9 for the TESNO event. It was an excellent turn out.

We submitted nearly 2,000 letters in opposition and nearly the same number in petition signatures.

It's great to see such an active and strong community that pulls together to fight the Tesco application in Newport Pagnell. The campaign is far from over though.

Andrew Maric
Vice chairman, TESNO

Keep the faith

SIR – I was amazed to read on your website that City MP Mark Lancaster took a swipe at our PM last week in the Commons.

At a time when our faith in MPs is at an all-time low, Mr Lancaster should be spending his time working on behalf of his constituents in Milton Keynes rather than making petty jibes in Wesminster.

We have plenty of issues for him here, such as refuse collections, trains and the state of our roads.

He was keen to make clear that he had experience of running his own business – wasn't that a family business? He is fortunate enough to have come from a wealthy background and I don't think that necessarily qualifies him as having lived in the 'real world'.

John Robertson
The Spinney, Olney

Loss of focus

SIR – I think it is a wrong idea to build hotel and a casino in CMK in these recessionary times.

The planners in the council should focus on parking and negative social effects on local people and local business.

Instead they focus on how high the hotel will be and how much it will cost.

No viva Las Vegas as councillors call for casino reports

More detail wanted on parking, retail impact and the height of the proposed hotel

BY ROB GIBSON
rob.gibson@mk-news.co.uk

PLANS for a Las Vegas-style casino in the city centre have been halted after calls for more detailed reports.

Developers from the Xscape centre were originally given the all-clear after successfully responding to objections at a special planning meeting but at a full council meeting last Tuesday councillors voted that it should be reconsidered.

The planning application will now go back to the development control committee, which will ask for more detail on matters such as parking, retail impact and the height of the hotel.

If permission is granted, Xscape Milton Keynes Limited will be one step closer to building a casino and hotel which could dominate the skyline, house more than a hundred slot machines and offer cash prizes of up to £4,000.

Cllr Catriona Morris, who called-in the decision, asked councillors to rescind the decision and said the committee had not been given enough information.

Ken Baker, architect and chairman of Central Milton Keynes Town Council, said: "This building is going to be the tallest building in Central Milton Keynes.

"This submission was made without an environmental impact assessment. It has been deemed acceptable without an environmental impact assessment.

"This is a building that needs to be considered a little bit more thoroughly."

Andrew Russell, on behalf of Xscape, argued that the committee was shown all the information required when it made the decision.

Twenty-four councillors back Cllr Morris's motion and the planning permission will now be delayed.

Other developers are keen for the casino to be built on sites which include the stadiummk site at Denbigh and the Leisure Plaza.

Cops on trail of missing charity cash

POLICE are investigating a company which claims to raise money for charities which say they have not received a penny from it.

Charitable People says the money from its events goes to behavioural disorder charity MK ADHD.

On its website it says it is based at the MK2 Business Park, though the Water Eaton park says this is not true.

The phone number given on the website does not take incoming calls.

The alarm was raised by the Conniburrow-based charity after it heard of events being held in its name.

On the website, a golf day for September 2008 is advertised to people at a cost of £48 per person.

Monica Harris, founder of MKADHD, which is just about the close its support group down, said: "We haven't received any money from these people. If we had it could have really helped."

A networking event last August was said to raise money for Bracken House, a Fremantle Trust care home.

Leon Ferreira, director of care, said: "We've never heard of this organisation or been given a penny by them."

It is not certain whether these events took place, and if anyone, donated money.

Thames Valley Police want to hear from anyone with any information. Call PC Darren Nicholls, on 08458 505 505.

Injured biker airlifted from BMX meeting

AN air ambulance was called to a major BMX meeting at the weekend.

On Sunday, the biking track near Willen Lake welcomed 333 riders from the south east, 39 of whom came from Milton Keynes.

The injured rider, competing in the 30-39 category, was airlifted to hospital after the Thames Valley & Chiltern Air Ambulance helicopter was called, making use of the nearby helipad.

The event was part of the East Anglia Summer BMX Racing Series

It also 'doubled' up as an Inter-Regional with The South meeting making it the biggest event in the city this year.

Alex Ferrada, spokesman for MKBMX Racing Club, said the track's dusty conditions led to several accidents.

However, he added: "Despite the spills, which made the event carry on into the evening, it was a great day.

"There were 31 novice riders showing the increasing interest in BMX racing in Milton Keynes. "

Brown quizzed on PM qualifications

City MP wonders about Gordon's world beyond Westminster

A CITY MP has challenged the Prime Minister asking what he has ever achieved in the real world to qualify him for his role.

Mark Lancaster, member for north east Milton Keynes, suggested that Gordon Brown has done little outside politics to held him understand the world beyond Westminster.

"What does the Prime Minister feel he has ever achieved in the real world that qualifies him to lead the nation," he asked.

Mr Brown replied that MPs should listen to their constituents about cleaning up politics and tackling the recession.

After the exchange last Wednesday, Mr Lancaster, who has previously run his own business and served in the army, said: "I simply wanted to underline that... it is important that MPs are in touch with the real world.

"My fear is that professional politicians like the Prime Minister, whose adult life has involved nothing but politics, are not particularly well suited to deal with the many challenges that face our country today and frankly his failure to answer simply underlined my concern."

Not guilty: Father John O'Toole has been cleared of causing the death of his 11-month-old son in January 2006

Baby death dad cleared

BY ROB GIBSON
rob.gibson@mk-news.co.uk

A FATHER who was charged with the manslaughter of his 11-month-old son three years ago has been cleared after the case was dropped.

John O'Toole, 29, of Shenley Church End, was charged over the death of Cameron O'Toole in January 2006.

He had been due to stand trial at Luton Crown Court last October, but the case was postponed for more expert evidence.

Prosecutor Yvonne Coen QC said: "It has been decided not to proceed with this prosecution and we are offering no further evidence."

She said it was initially thought that the little boy may have been shaken.

There were no other signs of injury or abuse and Mr O'Toole said his boy had fallen from a sofa onto a carpet.

An eminent US expert in biomechanics had recreated various scenarios and concluded that blood vessels could have been ruptured in a 'short distance fall'.

Miss Coen said: "The Crown are satisfied that now there is no longer a realistic prospect of a conviction and cannot exclude the possibility that this was an accident."

Judge John Bevan QC said: "These cases are notoriously difficult.

"The prosecution cannot safely prove guilt."

He ordered a not guilty verdict to be recorded.

Mr O'Toole was not present in court but had been informed earlier about the decision.

Smile! Councillors to go in front of cameras

COUNCILLORS will soon be on camera after a £400,000 refurbishment of their debating chamber.

In what has been called a 'significant technological step forward', the nine weeks over the summer are being used to overhaul the place where they debate and hold meetings.

Cameras will be instaled to broadcast meetings live into other rooms in the civic offices such as the members' lounge and other areas for when the public gallery is full.

The chamber, where the coroner holds inquests, is closing on July 6 and will reopen on September 7.

Waste not, want not

Green food and garden waste bins being rolled out to residents

BY LAURA HANNAM
laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

NEW bins for green waste are being delivered across the city.

By the end of this summer, all suitable properties will have received a 140 litre bin (unless they already have one) and a small silver kitchen caddy to enable residents to recycle all their food and garden waste.

Most flats and apartments will receive a 20 litre container along with the kitchen caddy so that they can recycle their food waste.

The scheme will be rolled out in two phases, with the first collections staring in July.

Once it is up and running, all waste and recycling will be collected on the same day each week.

Andy Hudson, chief waste management engineer at Milton Keynes Council said: "It's really important to get bio-degradeable waste out of landfill. When this sort of material ends up in landfill it ferments and makes methane, which is a very powerful greenhouse gas adding to global warming. We also want to increase our recycling and composting rate."

Pair put faith in t-rusty Skoda for Mongolia trip

Four-week epic will see 'Alice' cross deserts and mountains

Lee Tuffnell and Bob Twells: Hoping to drive their Skoda 'Alice' from England to Mongolia

TWO men will bid to drive a clapped-out Skoda a third of the way around the world to raise money for charity.

Lee Tuffnell who works for Milton Keynes Council and web developer Bob Twells, from Luton, will compete in The Mongol Rally which sees hundreds of teams aiming to get their motors from England to Mongolia.

The 28-year-olds will leave behind all the comforts of home and head out from Goodwood Racetrack on July 18 only with what they can cram into their green Skoda Felicia.

The teams have no back-up support, no set route and little in the way of maps to guide them through the wilderness, deserts and mountain ranges they will have to cover over four weeks.

Mr Tuffnell said: "We are really excited to be one of those teams, going under the team name 'Soldiers of Fortune'.

"We've bought our trusty car, Alice, and have been busy fixing a few engine issues to get her ready for the unknown.

"At the end of the rally the car will be given to charity, or if it's in no fit state for that they will scrap it to raise extra money – which seems more likely given what we've seen of the terrain we'll be travelling across."

Each year the rally raises money for the three official charities – Christina Noble Children's Foundation, Mercy Crops and Children and Young People's Protection and Development.

Each of these charities run projects in Mongolia which help support children and adults who lead hard lives, both within the capital city and out in the nomadic villages. With more teams than ever taking part this year, it is set to be the biggest fund-raiser yet for the rally.

Mr Tuffnell added: "We need to raise a minimum of £1,100 in sponsorship for the official charities, but we're hoping to raise a lot more.

"We're also looking for businesses which can help us out with useful equipment or services in exchange for advertising on the side of our car in true rally style."

'Let's up the ante' for football World Cup bid

Chairman Pete thinks big as councillors hear his host city ideas

City in bid to be World Cup host

BY JESSICA CUNNIFFE
jessica.cunniffe@mk-news.co.uk

INFRASTRUCTURE ought to improve if Milton Keynes is to take its place on the world stage.

That is according to MK Dons chairman Pete Winkelman, who spoke to Milton Keynes Council about the city's bid to become a World Cup host city.

Councillors were proposing a motion in support of stadiummk's aim to become a base camp for one of the 32 finalists.

As MK NEWS revealed last month, representatives from Milton Keynes travelled to Wembley to put MK Dons stadium in the running for host city status as England launched its bid to bring the tournament here in 2018 or 2022.

On Tuesday Mr Winkelman said that 'issues we need to address' include transport and IT in the city if we are to be 'something exceptional and unique'.

He told the chamber: "We are special place. All the way through the history of Milton Keynes it's been about big ideas, about doing the impossible.

"There are so many big things this city can achieve as it becomes one of the biggest cities in the country."

He added: "I truly believe that it's ours to lose. Let's up the ante, because that's what Milton Keynes is about."

Council leader, Sam Crooks, spoke about the pride it will give residents to be part of the prestigious event.

"For the first time this city's entered the big league.

"We were invited to apply alongside the likes of Liverpool, of Manchester, of Leeds, of Bristol.

"Nothing unites us more, makes us feel more part of the city than MK Dons.

"This is the huge chance to put MK on the world map. We can't let that opportunity fall."

The first bid has to be submitted by early July and final bid by November.

Ann Limb, chairman of Milton Keynes Partnership, added that 'people are now taking us seriously' as a city.

D-Day vets to get a free beer

BY LAURA HANNAM
laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

TWO pubs have launched a special beer to commemorate D-Day and are offering a free bottle to veterans.

The Black Horse, in Great Linford and The Swan in Woburn Sands have commissioned Liberation Ale for the 65th anniversary of the World War Two D-Day landings.

The landings on June 6, 1944, saw thousands of British and Commonwealth troops along with their Allies and American forces land on the beaches of Normandy, which ultimately led to the end of the Second World War.

D-Day veterans are invited to the pubs for their complimentary bottle of beer in the week starting on Monday, June 22, the Saturday of which is National Armed Forces Day.

Landlady of the Black Horse, Marian Shaw, said: "The D-Day veterans are very special people and we would like to acknowledge their bravery by giving something back."

Beauty a recession buster

HEALTH, beauty and fitness experts in Olney are teaming up to beat the recession.

Businesses in the traditional market town are to hold an event called 'Look Good, Feel Great - Olney Health and Beauty Week' from June 20 to 27, led by the Olney Chamber of Trade.

A launch event will be held at The Olney Centre in High Street from 11am until 5pm on June 20, where health and beauty companies will offer mini-treatments, samples and advice.

Vouchers will also be distributed to 5,000 local people offering 21 discounts, free treatments or services from local companies by June 27. The voucher sheet can be downloaded at www.onlyweek.co.uk.

Festival looking for stewards

ORGANISERS of a grassroots music festival are calling for volunteers to help marshal the event in July.

The Parklife festival held at Ousebank Gardens in High Street, Newport Pagnell on Saturday, July 18 needs people aged 18 or over to work as stewards.

The event showcases local musical talent with over 22 acts on two stages. It is followed the next day by Cuttin Wax Festival, at the same place and same stage, dominated by vinyl orientated music.

Volunteers will be given a free festival pack with food, drinks, CDs, and T-shirts for helping out. There are also opportunities to receive training for stewarding.

Air ambulance plea

AN air ambulance service is calling for a redoubling of fund-raising efforts to support it through the recession as it celebrates 10 years in the skies.

The Thames Valley & Chiltern Air Ambulance (TVACAA), which was established in 1999, has flown almost 11,000 missions across Buckinghamshire, Berkshire and Oxfordshire.

Chairman of trustees, Colin Lee MBE said: "The trust receives no government or lottery funding instead relying on the generosity of the people and businesses of the three counties to raise the £2m we need each year. We also hope that the occasion will awaken interest in the public to become volunteers and support TVACAA."

Terriers on D-Day run

FIVE city-based members of the Territorial Army have run 65 miles in the footsteps of D-Day heroes.

The members of 7 Rifles Reserve Force Volunteers joined more than 200 others running from Dorset to Pegasus Bridge in Normandy for the 65th anniversary of D-Day.

The two-day run raised funds for service charities.

Captain Bill Holland, based in Milton Keynes for 7 Rifles, said: "It is particularly poignant for us as the Rifles are the modern descendents of the Oxford and Bucks Light Infantry which was involved in D-Day."

Chamber Awards 2009

MILTON Keynes and North Bucks Chamber reminds you to get your entries into its Annual Business Excellence Awards.

The Chamber's Business Excellence Awards 2009 recognise the achievements of local businesses and rewards them for their commitment to excellence.

MK NEWS is once again supporting the event as the main media sponsor.

This prestigious competition has attracted high profile sponsorship from major local and national organisations;

Last year the Business Excellence awards attracted the largest number of entries in the Chamber's history with more than 100 companies entering.

Inspired by guest speaker Jo Salter, Britain's first female fighter pilot, master of ceremonies Declan Curry and supported by a host of local and national companies, the judging of the competition will be undertaken by a panel of leading business people. Each finalist will be invited to attend a glittering awards ceremony at Stadiummk.

Weight-loss runner does things by half

A MAN who won a battle to lose weight after being diagnosed a diabetic is to run a half marathon.

Barry Landsberg, from Watling Street, Little Brickhill will run 13.1 miles in the Milton Keynes NSPCC half marathon race, sponsored by MK NEWS, on Sunday, July 26.

The 58-year-old marketing manager was diagnosed with diabetes in 2000, when he weighed 19 stones.

As a result he decided to turn his life around and lost six stones over the next two years.

He said: "I lost the weight slowly. I didn't want to diet for the rest of my life so I gradually changed to eating healthy foods and built up an exercise regime.

"I don't think there is any point in a sudden transition as you cannot maintain it.

"When I started exercise was just something I had to do, I would never have volunteered for something like a half marathon, but as I got fitter I began to enjoy being fit and healthy.

"I hope it can give hope to others that my blood sugar level is normal now, without ever having to take any insulin or other drugs."

Zavvi to be US surf shack

A US fashion brand is to turn the old Zavvi store in central Milton Keynes into a surf shack.

Hollister is to move into the shop in Midsummer Place shopping centre.

The company, which is the sister brand of Abercrombie and Fitch, has gained planning permission from the council to turn the currently glass-fronted store into a beach hut structure with a columned porch to reflect the brand's Californian origins.

The shop has been empty since February after the local Zavvi store missed out on company buy-outs.

Hollister hopes to open its new shop in November.

It has also exchanged contracts on shops in Belfast, Liverpool and Bristol, which will take its UK total to nine.

The news comes shortly after TK Maxx announced it would be moving into the old Woolworths store in thecentre:mk.

The retailer told MK NEWS on Tuesday (June 9) that its new shop will open in late summer, creating around 80 new jobs.

Time to get on your bike

THE message is simple – get on your bike.

Bike Week is one of the biggest annual cycling events in the country and runs until Sunday.

The event aims to encourage millions of people to take up cycling as a regular activity and explore their local communities while on their bikes.

The activities in Milton Keynes - from breakfast and fundraising rides to cycle racing and bike training schemes – are organised by Milton Keynes Council and will be open to everyone.

Ceri Griffin, Cycling & Walking Co-ordinator at the council said: "MK has participated in the Bike Week events for a number of years now and has always offered a great week of cycling activities for the city's residents.

"This year's Bike Week activities will be specifically focusing on encouraging Milton Keynes families to get on their bikes and cycle to work and schools instead of using their cars.

"Our city has great cycling routes on offer with its Redways network that stretches through the whole of Milton Keynes and offers cyclists a comfortable journey through the city's beautiful parks and countryside."

Pupils no casting couch potatoes

Film club's kids quiz Harry Potter casting director

IT was more a case of Hogwarts than homework for one school.

Pupils from Fulbrook Middle School in Woburn Sands had a visit from Harry Potter casting director Fiona Weir.

The event was organised by FILMCLUB, a network of after-school clubs enabling children and teachers to explore the world of film through free weekly screenings of classic and popular titles, discussions, review-writing and visits from film industry talent.

Fiona has cast four of the Harry Potter films including, most recently, Harry Potter and the Deathly Hallows Parts 1 and 2, as well as many other hit movies like The Golden Compass, Elizabeth: The Golden Age and Love Actually.

In a lively session with 20 enthusiastic FILMCLUB members she explained what a casting director does and invited the youngsters, in groups, to choose actors for a new movie version of Cinderella.

She also asked them to comment on clips from Harry Potter and Golden Compass, and answered their questions about her career and the industry.

Fiona Weir signs autographs for Fulbrook Middle School pupils

Kelly Glass, teacher and FILMCLUB leader at Fulbrook School, said: "Fiona was very informative and really engaging. The kids so enjoyed being able to ask questions that they don't normally get the chance to ask.

"It has been a fantastic and very rewarding experience for everyone. We have a group which has really bonded through coming to FILMCLUB.

"It gives them the opportunity to talk about issues which are universal and gives youngsters whose parents don't usually watch films the chance to watch a wide range of titles, spreading their knowledge of film.

"It also gives pupils who struggle socially the opportunity to interact with their peers."

SIMON DARNELL

KISS ME THROUGH THE PHONE
Soulja Boy
It's difficult to take a song seriously when the opening notes sound like they're being played by someone letting air out of a balloon, and it doesn't really help when the rest of the song sounds as though somebody was playing an early Super Mario game while Soulja Boy was singing.
That apart though, this is actually fairly tolerable.
I wouldn't buy it myself, but considering this is the same person who was responsible for Crank That, this can only be seen as a massive step forward in quality.

WAKING UP IN VEGAS
Katy Perry
I THINK the nicest thing I can say about this song is that it sounds like the stuff Cher was chucking out 20 years ago, and even that's not saying much because let's be honest here, If I Could Turn Back Time was pretty dismal wasn't it?
Well, I thought it was.
The worst flaw this song has is that it's a pretty big, energetic number and it didn't excite me in the slightest.
You know exactly what you're going to get slow, build-up, song kicks in with the chorus, verse, chorus, middle bit gradually going quieter, song kicks in again with the chorus, fade out, tea and biscuits. Shame, really.

PEACE
Depeche Mode
JUST when I was thinking this week was going to be brightened up by a new Depeche Mode single, it wasn't.
When I give a negative review to Depeche Mode then you can be certain that something really has gone very wrong.
To be fair, Peace isn't one of the standout tracks on Sounds Of The Universe; compared to the others it's a bit too wishy-washy.
However, it does break things up nicely between In Sympathy and Come Back and, really, that's all this song is – a good album track, but never a single.
If ever a Mode song needed a kick up the backside and to be told to get on with it, it's this one, especially now it's been edited down for the single release.
If you thought it was underwhelming on the album, that's nothing compared to the radio edit. Somehow, it's been trimmed down to well under four minutes but the new version feels like it drags on longer than the original. What's that all about?
Maybe this song suffers just for being the single that has to follow Wrong, but if I told you there was a better song than this on the album, I'd be lying.
There are actually ten.

A wonderful feature, which was a huge success last year, is Stage 2, which gives enthusiastic young people the opportunity to perform music or poetry before sizeable crowds on a separate stage.
On Saturday and Sunday afternoons the MK Don's mascots Donny and Mooie will in the festival grounds.
In the courtyard of Artworks MK this year will be a wonderful event with a Victorian theme – The Bicycle Basket Bazaar – a combination of hand made, vintage, side shows, cakes and curiosities.
New for this year is korfball plus the popular junior football matches, a variety of dancing displays, art workshops, craft stalls, charity stalls and sideshows, fairground rides, bouncy castle, historical walk and a full programme in the church.
When you have worked up your appetite after that, there is a barbeque, beer tent, ice cream and other great food available.
The dog show also makes a welcome return this year and will take place on the Sunday starting at noon.

Milton Keynes Hospital Marks 25 Years

Milton Keynes Hospital is caring, clean and committed to treating you well.

In 2009 Milton Keynes Hospital Celebrates its Silver Anniversary.

Since we first opened our doors in 1984, Milton Keynes Hospital has been a reassuring presence in the life of the community.

Today, 25 years later, the provision of safe, high quality care that respects the privacy and dignity of patients remains our main goal.

The opening of the hospital on the current Eaglestone site in 1984 marked a huge advancement in the services available to local people, and since the hospital was first established there have been significant improvements in local health services and care.

The need for quality care delivered locally is recognised by the people of Milton Keynes. In the 1970s a campaign with the slogan 'Milton Keynes is dying for a hospital' was led by local residents, who erected an infamous question mark on the proposed hospital site.

I would like to offer my thanks to those who contributed to the establishment and early development of Milton Keynes Hospital.

It is through the determination, passion and hard work of our staff and voluntary workforce that Milton Keynes Hospital has improved, grown and thrived over the years.

To help celebrate the skills, achievements and dedication of our staff and volunteers this supplement focuses on the history of hospital healthcare in Milton Keynes, offers a snapshot of the hospital today and outlines our ambitions for the future.

Milton Keynes Hospital Today

Milton Keynes is a unique and vibrant city that continues to grow and develop. In turn, we are increasingly providing more specialist services to local people and we continue to develop our facilities to meet the needs of a growing population.

Today, the rapidly expanding Trust has over 560 beds, employs over 3,000 staff and provides a broad range of general medical and surgical services, including A&E, for around 300,000 people every year. We are responding to the tough challenges facing the health service in the modern age by focussing on making hospital visits as safe and comfortable for patients as possible.

Patient safety

Patient safety and the delivery of high quality care are our top priorities. At Milton Keynes Hospital we undertake all actions possible to minimise Healthcare Associated infection rates.

We recognise that more can always be done to improve patient safety, and a variety of activities are being undertaken to embed patient safety, and ensure that it is our number one priority at all times.

Reducing waiting times

Over 2008/09 we successfully met all cancer waiting time targets and ensured that over 98% of patients who attended A&E for emergency treatment were assessed, treated and discharged or admitted within four hours.

We continue to strive to reduce waiting times and by January 2009 almost all non-emergency patients were treated within 18 weeks of their referral.

I am pleased that local people who have recently received NHS treatment and care are noticing the improvements in the quality of care delivered as well as waiting times. Research into what patients think about the 18 weeks wait found that 97% of patients felt that they were treated with dignity and respect during the course of their treatment and that 92% of patients were involved in decisions about their care and treatment as much as they wanted to be.

Improving and expanding services

The Trust's capital programme continues to improve the patient environment, and over the past year we have invested in the environment by redecorating corridors and ward areas, opening new wards, and refurbishing the reception area of the Outpatients Department.

In April we opened a new, and significantly larger, state-of-the-art Endoscopy Unit and a 22-bed ward largely comprised of (70%) single rooms.

We recognise that patient privacy and dignity are integral to the delivery of good care.
This is why our ward refurbishments and new wards offer a high level of single rooms with en-suite facilities. We are currently undertaking extensive work to ensure that as many patients as possible are cared for in single sex bays or wards.

The new Endoscopy Unit is supporting the new bowel screening service as part of the NHS National Bowel Cancer Screening Programme. This is a major advancement for patient diagnosis and care, as the project is expected to lead to an earlier detection and treatment of bowel cancer.

With our freedoms as an NHS Foundation Trust and our motivated teams, we are committed to developing our role as a Trust that local people can be proud of: a local hospital for local people.

Looking forward

Milton Keynes Hospital is a 'can do' organisation where staff and volunteers strive to deliver safe, high quality care. We are confident that, with the commitment and dedication of our clinical and support staff teams across the Trust, we are well prepared to meet the challenges of a modern NHS, and can look forward a healthy future.

Chief Executive, Milton Keynes Hospital NHS Foundation Trust

Milestones

Celebrating 25 Years

Milton Keynes Hospital Milestones

1970s - A local campaign with the slogan 'Milton Keynes is dying for a hospital" resulted in a commitment to build a hospital on the current Eaglestone site.
1979 – A small Community Hospital opened. This was built adjacent and linked to the Eaglestone Health Centre, which was the first healthcare building on site.
April 1984 - Phase I of the hospital completed. Service provision included four operating theatres, an A&E Department, Maternity Services, general and speciality wards, full diagnostic X-Ray facilities, a Pathology Department, an on-site Ambulance Station, as well as the usual supporting departments found in an acute general hospital.
November 1984 – The hospital was officially opened by HRH the Duchess of Kent. A Postgraduate Education Centre and an extended Physiotherapy Department, including a hydrotherapy pool, were built soon after the opening.
September 1990 – A new Outpatient Centre was formally opened by HRH the Duchess of York. The building was named after Mr Luing Cowley, who was the District Health Authority Chairman and member of the Milton Keynes Development Corporation.
October 1992 - Construction of Phase II started in 1988. Phase II was officially opened by HRH The Duchess of Kent. The development contained six additional 28-bed wards, a further four operating theatres, extra accommodation for the Pathology Department and for stores, staff, offices and meeting rooms.
April 1992 - Milton Keynes General NHS Trust formally came into being. Significant changes to the range of services offered at the hospital included the addition of a Renal Unit, the expansion of Postgraduate Education facilities and the expansion of the Cardiology Unit and Coronary Care Ward.
2002 - A building housing a 26-bed orthopaedic ward and Breast Screening Unit opened.
2003 - An extension to the Children's Ward to house a GP referral unit, an assessment centre and a Patient Transfer Lounge opened.
2004 - A new office block was constructed and a 12- bed Oncology and Cancer Unit funded by the Macmillan Cancer Charity was completed. An extended fracture treatment clinic was also opened.
2005 - A £12m 60-bed Treatment Centre opened. Specifically designed and built for the treatment of patients requiring minor surgery, day and extended day case surgery, this has enabled the hospital to speed up treatment for patients needing elective surgery.
2006 - A £2m Angiography Unit to support the Cardiac Team opened.
October 2007 - Milton Keynes Hospital became a NHS Foundation Trust. This means that patients, the public and staff now have a greater say in the future of the hospital and in planning and developing services.
Sustained expansion continues, and over 2008/09 Ward 14, previously run by the local Primary Care Trust, was fully refurbished and reopened by the hospital. In April 2009 a new £4.6 million Endoscopy Unit and a 22- bed ward were completed.

Did You Know?

- Local people lobbied for a hospital for many years. Organised protest begun in 1973 with the for mation of the Hospital Action group. When the building start was put back from 1976 to 1980, protesters descended on the House of Commons with a petition signed by 18,000 people, which they handed to the then health under secretary, Dr David Owen.

  In the mid 1970s a giant orange question mark was placed on the proposed site, but it was not until June 1980 that the historic first turf was cut and the building of the hospital commenced.
- Milton Keynes Community Hospital opened in 1979 – five years before Milton Keynes Hospital was founded.
- The total cost of the hospital, including equipment, in 1984 was £20 million.
- When the hospital first opened in 1984 almost all areas were carpeted and the walls were painted green. Today, because of heightened infection prevention and control measures all floors are made of materials that are easy to clean. Thanks to an extensive refurbishment programme, most of the walls are now painted white, and the corridors are brightened up by a wide-ranging arts collection curated by MK Arts for Health.

Then and Now

- When phase one opened in 1984 there were around 300 beds. Today, there are over 560 beds.
- In 1984 around 115,000 people lived in Milton Keynes. In our Silver Anniversary year the Trust serves a population of over 230,000.
- When the hospital first opened around 1,000 staff were employed by the hospital. In 2009 an army of over 3,000 staff and 500 volunteers deliver care to patients.

Milton Keynes Hospital Activity Over the Past Year (2008/09)

- Just under 200,000 patients attended the hospital as an outpatient and over 20,000 were admitted electively (i.e. for planned care).
- 27,100 patients were admitted as an emergency, which is around 500 more than last year and 69,700 patients attended Accident & Emergency.
- The total number of babies born over the year was 3,939 (including 50 sets of twins and 1 set of triplets).

Latest Achievements
Respiratory Team Triumphs at Regional Awards

At the recent South Central Health and Social Care Awards 2009 regional awards ceremony, hosted by South Central Strategic Health Authority, Milton Keynes Hospital's Respiratory Team was revealed as the winner of the Adopt, Adapt and Improve Award for their 'Early Supported Discharge' system.

The innovative system has reduced the length of stay for patients so that they can go home more quickly, but with extra support from Community Matrons.

Patients with Chronic Obstructive Airways Pulmonary Disease (COPD), which affects people's ability to breathe properly, account for a significant percentage of unplanned admissions to UK hospitals.

Working with emergency and medical areas, the respiratory team piloted an assisted discharge scheme aimed at improving patient management and providing an early and successful return home.

Patients are receiving quality care, but their treatment is more concentrated and intensified, and includes additional physiotherapy input, which is vital for these patients.

Dr Milan Bhattacharya, Respiratory Consultant and Project Lead, said: "COPD is an umbrella term for a collection of smoking related long-term lung conditions such as chronic bronchitis and emphysema that cause breathing difficulties and progressively worsens if left untreated. While people associate COPD with getting older and may ignore it, we at Milton Keynes Hospital provide prompt access to specialist care for early accurate diagnosis and effective management thereby preventing further lung damage. "

Dr Rahul Mukherjee, Respiratory Consultant, added: "Improving the patient experience is the most significant achievement of the 'Early Supported Discharge' system. By implementing the innovative system and drawing on best practice we have improved both care and patient safety for respiratory patients."

An estimated three million people in the UK have COPD, though most don't know it, or that help is available.

People Power

Celebrating 25 Years

Veronica Gordon joined the hospital in 1984 as a Basic Grade Radiographer. Today, she is a Superintendant Sonographer with extensive Cancer and Obstetric experience.

"Today, we deliver more Outpatient Care and there is a much quicker turn around in A&E. Ultrasound equipment can be moved to the patient, if required. 4D Ultrasound probes give amazing images of babies before they are born."

Marlene Cox, who has provided essential support to Senior Officers at the hospital over the past 25 years talks about the changes and challenges that have faced the NHS.

Marlene, who is Personal Assistant to Chief Executive Jill Rodney and Chair Walter Greaves, joined the hospital in March 1984 as Personal Secretary to the Director of Nursing Services.

"Milestones that have influenced change in the NHS include the Patients' Charter, which was first published in October 1991, to improve the quality of services delivered to patients. The Charter spoke in terms of patients having rights, for example to be treated within a specific period of time.

"Gaining NHS Foundation Trust status in October 2007 was a significant milestone for Milton Keynes Hospital. We now have more freedom to develop services for the benefit of the local community, and local people can now help shape the services that we offer."

Patti Oakford, Senior Medical Day Nurse Practitioner, joined the Community Hospital in Milton Keynes in 1979 as a part-time Staff Nurse. Then, when the hospital opened in 1984, she joined the general pool of night staff nurses.

"There has been a massive move forward in nursing careers, and there are so many more opportunities for nurses to upskill and for career development.

"The responsibilities of nursing staff have increased and nurses now perform many procedures previously carried out by doctors. For example, I now undertake skills such as venesection, formerly carried out by doctors in endoscopy."

The care and support that people receive at the time of their bereavement can affect the grieving process. Milton Keynes Hospital works hard to ensure the best possible bereavement service for those whose loved ones die in hospital.

Kim Weston, Bereavement Officer Children and Adults, joined the hospital in 1984 as a Bank Staff Nurse.

"I think that working here for so long says more about the people and the place than about me. I have always felt this was the right place for me. I am a people person and it is that, that has made it good to be here.

"Bereavement is a really sad time for relatives. I just want to smooth the way."

Milton Keynes Hospital's Army of Volunteers

Milton Keynes Hospital has a long tradition of volunteering, and volunteers have made a crucial contribution to the life of the organisation since it was established in 1984.

Voluntary Services Manager Maureen Gladwin, who has worked with Milton Keynes Hospital for 22 years, said: "Throughout the years our voluntary workforce has made a massive contribution.

"In 1987 there were around 200 volunteers working with Milton Keynes Hospital. Today there are over 500.

"In addition to assisting ward staff by helping patients with their meals and delivering a regular library service a large number of volunteers also undertake essential clerical and administration tasks."

Several of our original volunteers still volunteer with us today.

Avril Atkinson, Volunteer

After twenty years as a PA and working as an Office Manager Avril took early retirement. At the same time, Milton Keynes Hospital was being built and Avril enquired about working on a voluntary basis.

Avril said: "I became a volunteer in 1984 and worked in the League of Friends Shop, where I helped patients, visitors and staff. I did other duties including arranging flowers, taking the library trolley and the Red Cross trolley with sweets and toiletries round to all the patients on the wards.

"I love dealing with the public and get a great deal of satisfaction helping them with their problems."

"The hospital in Milton Keynes is a good hospital, which I am proud to be part of".

Joan West, Volunteer

Joan West is an ex-acting Head Teacher, and has been linked with the Hospital since 1983, when she first joined the local NHS to help set up the library in the Children's Ward. In 1984 she was asked to officially join as a Volunteer.

In the Children's Ward, Joan was responsible for all the books, and her role included reading to the children.

She said: "It's nice to make the effort and it is good to exercise when you are retired. It's great to meet new people and great to be of use."

We are keen to welcome local people into our voluntary workforce.

Volunteers range from students who want to train as doctors, nurses and midwives through to retirees, and from those in full time employment to the unemployed. Volunteers can give as much time as they wish, and it can be as little as two hours a week.

If you are 18 or over and interested in volunteering, please call Voluntary Services on 01908 243042.

Fundraising

Milton Keynes Hospital has a long history of fundraising and community support.

Since the hospital's inception the generosity of local people and businesses has helped to improve the lives of many patients, visitors and staff.

To equip the hospital with the latest beds, a 'Buy a Bed Appeal' was held in advance of the Hospital opening, with each bed having the name of the donor on a plaque placed on the bed. Over £90,000 was raised.

Sponsored slims, marathon runs and jumble sales raised cash alongside roller skating marathons, office collections and school donations, to ensure that new beds were bought.

One lady who has made a significant contribution to the local NHS for over 25 years is Maureen Pruskin, Voluntary Charity Fundraiser and Publicist.

Maureen has been a passionate fundraiser for the hospital. In 2000, Women in Enterprise gave her the 'Altruistic Achiever Award' for raising awareness of Bowel Cancer, and in 2006 she was awarded the accolade of 'Best Fundraiser' in the Pride in Milton Keynes Awards for her role as a fundraiser for numerous hospital charities.

She initially joined the League of Friends (now Friends of Milton Keynes Hospital and Community), which has fundraised for Milton Keynes Hospital since 1979, when it was still a Community Hospital.

Maureen raised around £2,500 for a Parker Bath, a specially designed bath with a lifting device to help get people with a disability into the bath, relieving the nurses of the need to lift patients.

The Myrtle Peach Trust Fund was formed in 1987 to help patients who are at risk from, or have been treated for, cervical or ovarian cancer and to develop gynaecological services.

Maureen said: "Professor Christopher B-Lynch needed a laser for cervical cancer prevention, and as a result the Myrtle Peach Fund was initiated.

"At this time there were no facilities for treating patients who had an abnormal smear, but through working with the Rotary Club of Milton Keynes money was soon raised for this laser. "

Chairman of the Fund, Professor Christopher B-Lynch, said: "The charity was initially founded to reduce the incidence of cervical cancer, as at that time there was a higher rate of abnormal smear tests for cervical cancer in Millton Keynes, largely because of the younger population in the area.

"Funds raised by the charity were used to initiate laser and colposcopy clinics to treat women for cervical cancer prevention, following an abnormal smear result. To date, thousands of women have been treated, avoiding the necessity of a waiting list, and major surgery."

Today, the Myrtle Peach Trust continues to help Milton Keynes Hospital prevent, treat and combat cervical and ovarian cancer.

The Milton Keynes Hospital Charitable Fund supports the work of Trust staff.

Treating Heart Conditions in Milton Keynes

Alison Smith, Advanced Nurse Practitioner in Cardiac Rehabilitation, joined Milton Keynes Hospital 22 years ago.

Alison was instrumental in setting up the Cardiac Rehabilitation Team in 1989. Milton Keynes Hospital was one of the first hospitals to be awarded funds to launch the service.

The Cardiac Rehabilitation Team works closely with the Cardiology Department and the Cardiology Team to develop care plans for those with a recognised heart condition.

This involves working with patients to built up their stamina and confidence and deliver lifestyle advice, including an exercise programme delivered by fitness and health professionals, information on treatments and healthy eating advice.

Alison said: "Since its outset the Cardiac Rehabilitation team at Milton Keynes Hospital has been at the forefront of supporting research and the development of new cutting edge treatments. We helped to carry out studies into new treatments and clot busting drugs for thrombolysis and the control of cholesterol levels.

"I have been given terrific support over the years by Consultant Cardiologist Dr David Gwilt, to move rehabilitation services forward and push through changes.

Alison added: "Heart disease is often thought of as an older person's problem, but lifestyle choices such as binge drinking, smoking, taking recreational drugs and eating fatty foods increase the risk of developing heart problems."

Consultant Cardiologist Dr Attila Kardos said: "Cardiac rehabilitation can transform the lives of heart patients following a heart attack or surgery. Someone who has had a heart attack or bypass can get confidence from cardiac rehabilitation, which allows them to adopt effective lifestyle measures."

Cardiology Services Today
We are increasing the capacity and range of services provided to ensure the timely and effective management of cardiovascular disease.

Since the opening of the Trust's £2.5 million Angiography Unit in 2006/07, more patients have been treated locally.

The Trust recently recruited two more cardiology consultants, in collaboration with Oxford Radcliffe Hospitals.

Maternity Services in Milton Keynes

Maternity

Celebrating 25 Years

In our Silver Anniversary year around 4,000 babies are expected to arrive with help and support from the hospital's maternity team.

The Maternity Unit is staffed by a team of over 170 people, including midwives, obstetrics and gynaecology consultants, matrons, nursery nurses, staff nurses, maternity care assistants and administrators. The Unit works collaboratively with anaesthetists and the Neonatal Unit team.

Midwives, with support staff, provide care in variety of settings including community clinics and women's homes, as well as the delivery suite and the wards.

Midwife numbers have increased over the past year, more beds have been opened in the Maternity Unit, and improvements have been made to the quality of care delivered.

Specialist midwives are in place to ensure that the individual needs of mothers are met – including a breast feeding midwife, risk management midwife and a bereavement midwife.

Tony Halton, Director of Nursing at Milton Keynes Hospital, said: "The Maternity Unit provides midwifery and obstetric care by experienced and skilled professionals. Our aim is to ensure that all expectant mothers are supported in line with their specific needs. The hospital is working hard to develop the services that we deliver to local mothers and families.

"In order to ensure that staffing levels grow with the rising birth rate in the local area our recruitment drive is ongoing."

Meeting the Needs of Mothers in Milton Keynes

Milton Keynes Hospital is striving to ensure that mothers-to-be have a full range of birthing choices - including home births. The Trust is moving towards more flexible, midwife-led maternity services, based around the needs of women. The provision of midwives to attend home births varies across the country, but in Milton Keynes the home birth rate is 4%, which compares favourably with the national average of 2.8%.

Elizabeth Hunter, Head of Midwifery, said: "At Milton Keynes Hospital we recognise that there is nothing more important for any family than bringing a new baby into the world. We are pleased that home birth rates are on the increase, allowing women greater choice."

"We are carefully listening and responding to what women and their families have told us they want from maternity services."

Delivering Live Saving Care to Generations

Earlier in 2009 special care was delivered to the child of a mother who was a 'miracle baby' herself almost 25 years ago.

Babies admitted to the Neonatal Unit receive intensive, high dependency and special care. Neonatal or 'special care' babies are often called miracle babies, and their lives often depend on advancements in modern medicine.

Gemma Capener, pictured, whose life was saved by staff in the Neonatal Unit at Milton Keynes Hospital after being born prematurely in November 1984, found herself in the Unit again – to help look after her own baby.

When Gemma Capener was born on 9 November 1984, she was 11 weeks early and weighed only 1lb 6oz. At that time, she was the smallest baby ever born in the hospital.

It was feared that she was so small that she may not survive, but thanks to the treatment and care delivered by the Neonatal Unit Gemma left on 28 January 1985 weighing a healthy 4lbs.

Gemma's son Haydon, born four weeks early on 17 February 2009 weighing 3lb 14oz, also required specialist care.

The Trust cares for around 360 neonatal babies each year and vital life-saving equipment and an appropriate environment are needed to provide the most sophisticated care to these special patients.

The Little Lives Appeal aims to raise funds for the Neonatal Unit, which will go towards a full refurbishment and redesign of the Unit.

If you wish to make a donation, please visit www.mkhospital.nhs.uk, or forward a cheque made out to 'Milton Keynes Hospital - Neonatal Unit'. Alternatively, you can make a donation by calling 01908 243383.

Prof Christopher B-Lynch, Consultant Obstetrician and Gynaecological Surgeon, Milton Keynes Hospital

Professor B-Lynch

Professor B-Lynch, who has worked at Milton Keynes Hospital since it opened in 1984, has invented a number of surgical procedures to minimise trauma in care, including the now famous B-Lynch Suture, which is a simple operation to stop haemorrhage and prevent the need for a hysterectomy.

Professor B-Lynch graduated from Oxford and St Bartholomew's Medical College, London, and was Chief Assistant to the Queen's gynaecologist at Barts from 1981 to 1983, before being appointed as consultant obstetrician and gynaecological surgeon at Milton Keynes hospital. He is a recognised trainer for the Royal College of Obstetricians and Gynaecologists in safe keyhole surgery.

Pioneering Safer Childbirth World Wide

The B-Lynch Suture developed by Professor B-Lynch has been a pivotal development in gynaecology, and is now being used in countries around the world to help tackle the high numbers of maternal deaths from post partum haemorrhage (bleeding following childbirth).

"The invention of the B-Lynch Suture, a life saving operation for women who haemorrhage after childbirth, is helping to save lives across the globe," said Professor B-Lynch.

Myrtle Peach Fund for Cancer Prevention

Professor B-Lynch has chaired the Myrtle Peach Fund for Cancer Prevention, which works to help prevent, treat and combat cervical and ovarian cancer, since it was founded in 1987.

Professor B-Lynch explained his role: "I undertake a range of clinical and research activity, including work which helps prevent and treat gynaecological cancer.

"The funds raised for the Myrtle Peach Fund support the hospital in the treatment of patients and promoting outpatient treatment by laser and minimal access surgery (keyhole procedures). Thousands of patients have been spared hospital admission on the minimal access surgery programme since 1989, which has significantly reduced NHS bed occupancy by facilitating early discharge from hospital."

Professor B-Lynch added: "Although there have been many significant achievements delivered by Maternity Services in Milton Keynes, my most memorable experience remains saving the life of a mother and her baby in my first year with the Trust. After the hospital opened and maternity services were delivered locally for the first time, a local woman was found to have cancer whilst half way through her pregnancy.

"Thanks to my experience of working at St Barts Hospital, I was able to instantly recognise cancer of the cervix immediately. Following a successful cesearian section to deliver the baby, the lady received extensive surgery.

"The mother made a full recovery. That experience was magic. Saving the lives of mothers and babies is, in my mind, the most fulfilling experience possible."

NHS Foundation Trust

Medicine Management

The primary role of the Pharmacy Department at Milton Keynes Hospital is to care for patients through ensuring the best use of medicines, and providing information about medicines to both patients and to the professionals who treat them.

Joan Powell, Dispensary Manager in the Pharmacy Department

Joan joined the Pharmacy Department in March 1979 as a basic grade Pharmacy Technician.

"When I started in my first post, the department only consisted of two people, a Pharmacist and myself. Today, there are almost 50 people employed in the department.

"Having worked in the department for almost 30 years my role has changed many times, and I have gained experience in all areas.

"When I first started labels were handwritten, then we progressed to using typewriters. Eventually, we moved to basic computers, and now we have very sophisticated systems with robotic dispensing.

"In 1979 Pharmacists and Technicians very rarely left the department, and their main aim was to dispense medicines. Now, with the advent of Medicines Management, we go out to the wards and engage with patients to ensure they get the full benefit from their medicines. New computer systems and robotic dispensing help us to use our time more efficiently.

"I am passionate about my job and get great satisfaction from it. I find working with and supporting my team to achieve the department's aims an enjoyable challenge. We are always under pressure from the wards to have medicines ready for patients and we have to meet the challenge.

"I contribute to the life blood of the hospital by supporting staff, and helping them to mature in their roles. I enjoy my role as we all work together with the common aim to help get patients as well as possible."

Milton Keynes Hospital Pharmacy Today

As with many areas of healthcare and health services, technology has revolutionised how the hospital works. A robot that can fetch and deliver drugs in seconds is now used to help speed up the delivery time for prescriptions.

Today, the Pharmacy Department dispenses some 3,000 to 4,000 prescriptions every week. The robot enables prescriptions to be processed more speedily and is helping to cut waiting times for prescriptions. Importantly, the robot is highly accurate, so is further reducing the risk of dispensing errors.

The Future of Milton Keynes Hospital

Milton Keynes Hospital is an ambitious NHS Foundation Trust and our aim is to ensure that all patients have access to excellent local services. With input from our Members' Council and other key stakeholders we have produced our five year ambitions statement, which puts us in good stead for forthcoming years.

Spotlight on Services

We are focusing on specific services over the next five years, including:

Children and Young People

The Trust plans to make services for children and young people a defining feature of the Trust.

Maternity Services

Milton Keynes Hospital currently delivers approximately 4,000 babies each year and we intend to deliver a first class maternity service.

Cardiovascular Services

The Trust is developing an interventional cardiology service that delivers a local angioplasty service and increased device implantation, reducing the need for patients to travel to Oxford. This will sit alongside a stroke service offering excellent inpatient care, a transient ischaemic attack (TIA), or 'mini stroke' service, and looking to develop a thrombolysis service. Underpinning these will be the further development of screening services.

Short Stay Elective

The Treatment Centre offers first class facilities for those requiring minor surgery, day and extended day case surgery.

Currently, over 75% of patients requiring planned treatment are cared for as day cases. This has enabled the hospital to speed up treatment for patients who require elective surgery. We are also working to eliminate unnecessary follow up appointments in order to maximise patient convenience. Over the coming years we will take advantage of the opportunities we have to further develop this service.

Areas for Advancement

We are working to increase the range of preventative services we provide, extend our treatment range and deliver care closer to home.

Key areas that we will be working to advance during the next five years include:

Cancer and Blood Related Disorders

We intend to consolidate our Cancer and Haematology services to undertake as much cancer care as possible. The Trust will review the services we currently offer with the intention of extending and developing the care and treatments currently available locally. We will also develop a comprehensive service for the treatment of patients with blood disorders such as Sickle Cell.

Older People

Given the indicated increase of 30% in the number of older people living within Milton Keynes over the next five years we are committed to investing in older peoples' services. We want to deliver a truly integrated service both inside the hospital and in the community.

Long-term Conditions

The growth in many of our services, such as respiratory and diabetes, has been in direct response to the increase in the incidence of disease and to the ability to treat patients quicker and more appropriately. We are working with the local community to increase the range of preventative services available, extend our treatment range and deliver care closer to home.

Public Health

Our focus is not only healing the sick, but also preventing illnesses and promoting good health. We have strong clinical leadership in this area, and the Trust has agreed a strategy for improving the health and well being of the communities we serve.

Sara making sure education through sport is reaching local communities

BY SIMONE CORGAN
simone.corgan@mk-news.co.uk

A CHARITY in Milton Keynes which delivers education through sport have recently appointed a project delivery officer to ensure their work reaches the local communities.

Sports Leaders trained one million people in their first 25 years, from 2007 to 2012 they hope to have another million on their books such is the growth of the company.

While they currently run courses through schools, there is a fear the people who need the Sports Leaders courses the most are missing out.

That is where Sara Stanbrige, who is six weeks into her role as project delivery officer for Bucks and Luton, comes in.

Sara is now at the headquarters in Linford Wood assessing the target areas for the Sports Leaders courses.

She said: "Predominantly a lot of our work is in education and schools. I've been brought in to target communities which haven't had the opportunity to get engaged or just don't want to. We're hopefully going to attract different people from different backgrounds.

> My job is to set up courses where the need is. A second part of my role is to work with community groups to get external funding. There's lots of pots of money out there for communities to tap into to run these sorts of activities.
> – Sports Leaders project delivery officer Sara Stanbrige

"My job is to set up courses where the need is. A second part of my role is to work with community groups to get external funding. We need the funding to cover log books, tutors. There's lots of pots of money out there for communities to tap into to run these sorts of activities."

The courses they offer range from awards in sports leadership, dance leadership, community sport leadership and basic expedition leadership. All are designed for people to learn new skills and gain confidence.

Currently record numbers of Sports Leaders are delivering millions of hours of sport every year - there is 750,000 hours of 'guided sport' nationally delivered every week.

Former Prime Minister Sir John Major recently spoke at an event to raise money towards Sports Leaders UK's and Sports Aids projects.

And the search is also on for the Sports Leaders UK Volunteer of the Year 2009. The winner will be picked from 200,000 Sports Leaders who deliver sporting activity in the community every year.

Nominations are open to everyone who holds a Sports Leaders qualification, is over 14 years of age and has completed at least ten hours of extra volunteering in the community.

■ Nominations, and more information about Sports Leaders can be found at www.sportsleaders.org

Learner groups raise charity cash

LEARNERS at TNG at the Brunel Business Centre, Milton Keynes, have raised £2,000 cash for charities including Willen Hospice and Keech Cottage.

TNG is one of the UK's leading Welfare to Work training providers.

In November 2008, funding became available for learners on the e2e (Entry to Employment) course to undertake an activity to enrich their lives.

Dave Carson, manager at TNG said he wanted to show his learners that sometimes, in order to enrich your own life, you have to do something for others.

Each group of learners that joined the e2e course, aimed at helping 16-18-year-olds develop skills to improve employability were asked to organise a fund-raising event to benefit charities including Willen Hospice, Keech Cottage, Children in Need, Brooke Advisory and Comic Relief.

College gets Two Ticks for positive approach to jobs for the disabled

MILTON Keynes College is celebrating after achieving the Two Ticks award, recognition that they are positive about employing disabled people.

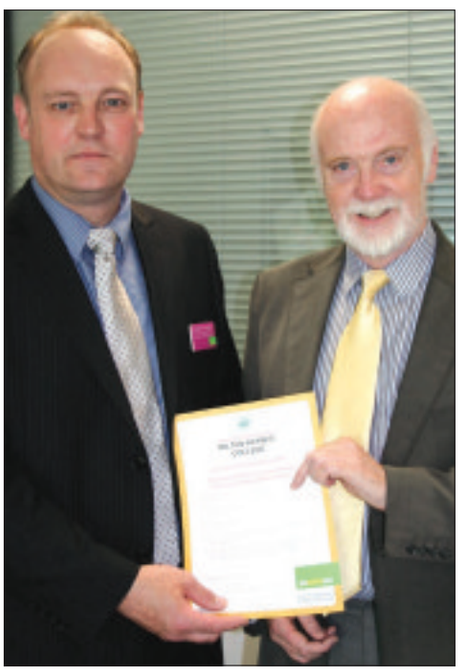
Jonathan Morgan, cluster manager for the Bletchley and Milton Keynes branches of JobCentre Plus presented the award to Rob Badcock, principal and chief executive for Milton Keynes College.

The presentation of the award was a significant step for the two organisations which are working together to promote career opportunities in Milton Keynes and the surrounding areas.

The Two Ticks Award is awarded by Jobcentre Plus to employers who have agreed to make certain positive commitments regarding the employment, retention, training and career development of disabled people.

These commitments are:

- to interview all disabled applicants who meet the minimum criteria for a job vacancy and to consider them on their abilities
- to ensure there is a mechanism in place to discuss with disabled employees, what both parties can do to ensure further development of disabled employees
- to make every effort when employees become disabled to make sure they stay in employment
- to take action to ensure that all employees develop the appropriate level of disability awareness needed to make sure these commitments work
- to review these commitments annually and assess what has been achieved, plan ways to improve on them and let employees and Jobcentre Plus know about progress and future plans



Jonathan Morgan, left, cluster manager for the Bletchley and Milton Keynes branches of JobCentre Plus presents the Two Ticks award to Rob Badcock, principal and chief executive of MK College

Phillip Catcheside, Recruitment Specialist at Milton Keynes College said 'We are extremely fortunate to have a culture which so actively promotes diversity. We know that the Two Ticks award will help in attracting disabled applicants to the College.

Two Ticks is more than a symbol, it's about recognising people, developing them and above all, holding onto them.'

The College is also working towards the Investors in Diversity award, which they hope to have further news on later this year.

If you are interested in finding out more about Two Ticks or indeed the job opportunities offered by Milton Keynes College, then visit www.mkcollege.ac.uk or call the recruitment line on 01908 684327.

Lorry carries 100,000 mile message for ex-servicemen

A DISTRIBUTION company is supporting ex-servicemen by featuring a charity logo emblazoned across one of its articulated lorries.

Operating from Culina Logistics Ltd's site on Whitehall Avenue in Kingston, Milton Keynes the 45ft vehicle will cover around 100,000 miles a year. As it travels the length and breadth of the country distributing food and drink products to major supermarket retailers the logo will raise awareness of the British Limbless Ex-Service men's Association (BLESMA).

The national charity provides support for service personnel who have lost limbs or the use of limbs during their service for the country.

The trailer designed by Culina was unveiled to ex-servicemen and veterans who have been helped by the charity and ex-British Army member, Mark Lancaster, now MP for North East Milton Keynes and a Territorial Army bomb disposal officer.

He said: "BLESMA carries out a valuable service to injured personnel and credit to Culina Logistics for giving the charity some deserved recognition in helping to raise its profile."

Taylors take gold at awards

TAYLORS has been awarded at the prestigious Estate & Letting Agent Awards 2009.

Taylors, part of Countrywide, has been awarded a gold prize by their customers – buyers and sellers who have used their services over the last 12 months.

The UK's Best Large Chain trophy was presented at a lavish ceremony which took place at the five star Marriott Hotel in Mayfair, London attended by 300 of the UK's top Estate and Letting agents.

Peter Wallace, Taylors Managing Director said: "Winning this award is a fantastic achievement for everyone at Taylors.

"We pride ourselves on our outstanding levels of customer service and these awards are a reflection of our hard work. Unlike other awards, this award gives customers a voice and is based entirely on their votes."

The event is sponsored by the Property Search Group (PSG), Globrix.com and supported by the Royal Institution of Chartered Surveyors (RICS)

More than 30,000 questionnaires were sent out to customers during the competition and votes were based on a series of questions about the service customers have received from their agent.

BE A 'PROPERTY PROFESSIONAL'

Regardless of the recession, a new European Directive now legally requires an estimated 2.5 million homes and commercial properties being rented, sold or built to have an Energy Assessment this year alone. And more 'green environmental' laws are coming!

For example next year nearly every commercial property with air-conditioning must have an Assessment before the January 2011 deadline.

Applicants are therefore required to train now as multi-skilled 'Property Professionals' to carry out commercial and air-conditioning Energy Assessments and many other roles such as Flood and Fire Risk Assessments, Energy Audits, Insulation Surveys, Property Valuations, Home Condition Reports, Public Buildings Assessments etc.

No previous experience is necessary, training to join this new growth industry can usually be taken around current job at our nationwide training centres approved by the Government-appointed Awarding Body for the Built Environment and is subsidised. On qualifying start your own energy business, work for other Assessment Providers or be available for potential full or part-time work through our Energy Assessor Panel with earnings of £50 to £1,200 per Assessment.

ref: HLU250

Ring today for an interview and find out more about a career opportunity in this fast-expanding, new 'green' industry.

DIAGNOSTIC CHECK
We will accurately diagnose your fault before you get into big repair bills...
HUGE SAVINGS
Against main dealer prices
Quality service at affordable prices...
Our customers come from all over the country because of our good name and personal service. Our workshop is not housed behind a flashy reception area where you hand your keys over and your car disappears not to be seen again until you pay your bill. We run an open workshop where the customer is shown what's wrong with their car and you can discuss the solutions with the engineer.
Servicing to above main dealer standards. Audi trained technicians.

Cherwell League Division One

LEAGUE leaders Buckingham Town handed out an eight wicket defeat to Bletchley Town at Bourton Road on Saturday.

The defeat leaves Bletchley in 6th place in the table, but they were second best against a youthful Buckingham side who played with great energy and looked every inch the title contenders they are.

Skipper Mark Roberts lost the toss again, and Bletchley were invited to bat first on a greenish looking track. However, the visitors started steadily and both Sprittles and Simpson looked in good touch. Both batsmen looked well set until Sprittles hit a short ball to square leg for 16. Ghufran Mohammed followed the next over when he nibbled at a ball from D'Silva to the wicketkeeper for a duck.

Ed Packard came in and dispatched his first ball over square leg for a huge six, though his stay was short-lived when with Vish Valambhia's first delivery, he edged a wide ball for 14. Alex Kilbey joined Simpson at the crease, and started to look relatively comfortable. However, with the score on 78, Kilbey was brilliantly caught one-handed by Judd at point for 15.

Worse was to follow for Bletchley, when the score was on 89, Simpson was undone by Valambhia for 35. This precipitated a collapse where Bletchley lost their last 6 wickets for just 21 runs, with Valambhia claiming 6-20.

Buckingham's opener Leigh Tomlinson was struck on the helmet early on by a fired-up Ghufran Mohammed, though it was Mark Roberts who found the breakthrough when Walters chipped tamely to mid-on.

With James Sprittles finding some good rhythm at one end, he tempted Cater to an edge which Simpson spilled in the slips. This was made worse by a cut to the finger which forced Simpson out of the rest of the match.

Buckingham moved serenely to their target in just 23.3 overs to give the hosts an early finish. Tomlinson undefeated on 53, Hartwell on 34 as Bletchley were left to reflect on a disappointing day.

Bletchley face Horspath next week at Manor Fields.

'I'll be back' – Pickering

ATHLETICS

FORMER European Cup gold medallist Craig Pickering has vowed to bounce back from the dissapointment of being overlooked for the European Team Championships.

The 22-year-old won gold in the 100m in 2007 - before the event was revamped as the European Team Championships - and had targeted qualification through Wednesday's inaugral Super 8 in Cardiff.

Representing London North he eased home in 10.24 seconds in difficult conditions in Cardiff, to take victory ahead of Seyi Smith and Commonwealth Games silver medallist Christian Malcolm.

Super 8 is the new brainchild of UKA and is the new event that crams 11 events for men and women as well as relays into two hours - designed to revolutionise athletics in the UK, much like Twenty20 has done to cricket.

But despite taking victory in 10.24 seconds, the former European indoor silver-medallist did not do enough to earn selection for the 100m or 4x100m relay. The European championships take place in Portugal later this month.

"It's disappointing but let's be realistic - the standard of British sprinting this year is absolutely phenomenal," he said.

"We have three people under 10.10 which doesn't happen all that often and there's a lot of depth out there but I can deal with it.

"No-one ever wants to be second best and I'm not even second, I'm sixth or seventh best. I don't really like that so I'll go home and work as hard as I can."

The former European indoor silver medallist endured a disappointing winter, coming fifth at the European Indoor Championships in Turin with rival Dwain Chambers taking gold and dominating the headlines.

Pickering has now turned his attentions to August's World Championships in Berlin.

"I want to go quicker so I'll have to do the work in training. It'll give me a boost because I don't want six guys in front of me," he added.

"I'll be racing on Wednesday in the Czech Republic, Milan on the 25th, Lyon on the 30th - there's some good quality races there and then I'll just come home for a few days before the AAA's to get some training in and hopefully make the team for Berlin.

MK Swimming Club kids to take on country's best

MEMBERS of the Milton Keynes Swimming Club will be pitting their skills against the best in the country.

Matthew Masters, Lauren Ottaway and Jocelyn Ulyett will take on the best age group and youth swimmers in the UK.

Matthew, 14, qualified in six events, the 100, 200 & 800 metre Freestyle, 100 & 200 Backstroke and 200 Medley.

To qualify Matt broke the County Junior long course 100m Freestyle record. Matt will also swim for the CMK relay team that has qualified by being one of the fastest club teams in the country.

He came second at the Regional bagcat competition held in Crawley last weekend, collecting four gold medals in the process.

This year, Lauren has qualified for her first National Championships with a time of 1:07.09 in the 100m Backstroke and 2:22.92 in the 200 Backstroke. 15-year-old Lauren also gained a county long course Junior record for the 100m Butterfly event at a recent meet in Sheffield.

Jocelyn, 13, completed the local trio. Joss has had an extremely successful season qualifying for four events. She will compete in the 100 & 200 freestyle and 200 and 400 Medley. Joss also took a CMK senior long course 100m freestyle club record in a time of 1:02.07.

The championships will be held at the end of July in Sheffield.

Jocelyn Ulyett: Qualified for four events at the national Championships

It's a knockout! New season changes to BBL Trophy

BASKETBALL

MK Lions season may still be some way off but the British Basketball League (BBL) has announced the structure of next seasons competitions.

The significant changes are in the the BBL Trophy, which will take the form of a straight knockout competition and incorporates the top three EBL Division 1 teams from last season (Reading Rockets, Manchester Magic & London Leopards).

The first round and quarter-finals will be one-off games, with the semi-finals being contested over two legs with the final a one- off game at a central venue in mid March.

The BBL Cup format will remain the same as last season with 3 teams receiving a bye from the 1st Round based on their BBL Championship position last season (Newcastle Eagles - 1st, Everton Tigers - 2nd & Leicester Riders - 3rd).

As with the Trophy competition, the opening rounds will be one-off games, with the semi finals contested over two legs and decided on aggregate score.

With the final a one-off game at a central venue in January, when the first piece of silverware of the season is handed out.

The BBL Championship season will begin on Friday 25th September and the format will remain the same last season with the addition of a new team the Essex Pirates.

Each team play 36 regular season games, with sides meeting one another three times with two points for a win, and the top eight teams will progress to the BBL Championship Playoffs next April.

The format for the playoff quarter-final games will remain as one-off encounters but next years semi-final rounds will be played over two legs with the higher seed having choice of home advantage in the either the 1st or 2nd leg.

The climax of the season will now be a single day showpiece event in early May.

The full fixture list, BBL Cup and BBL Trophy draws, are due to be announced in the next few weeks with the season starting in September.

Mark Webber is muscled out at the first bend by the McLarens and a Ferrari at Silverstone last year

Red Bull hope to make history

RED Bull Racing will be hoping they can make their own piece of history at the last ever British Grand Prix at Silverstone.

The Tilbrook based team have had a terrific start to the season and will see this Sunday's race on the track as a home from home.

The circuit has not been kind to Red Bull in the past with the cars failing to make an impact. This year however, has seen a transformation in the teams fortunes.

Currently Sebastian Vettel is in third place with 29 points closely followed by his Australian colleague Mark Webber on 27.5.

Both are trailing the two Brawn's of second placed Rubens Barrichello on 35 points and championship leader and British star Jenson Button on 61 points.

Qualifying for this historic race starts on Friday but before the real hard work begins, the Red Bull drivers have this week taken some time out to reflect on what the British Grand Prix at Silverstone means to them before its move next year to Donington.

"A great memory from Silverstone was being on the front row of the grid for Red Bull last year, said Webber,

"The race didn't turn out as planned, but qualifying on Saturday was very rewarding.

"The Red Bull Racing factory is very close to Silverstone and there were so many people there supporting us that to start the race on the front row was great, it was a very special day.

"I don't think this will be the last Silverstone GP. Donington is a beautiful bike track and Silverstone is a fantastic car track, so I think they should leave them as they are I think we'll be back."

Vettel is a relative newcomer to the circuit as this will be only his second GP there.

He added: "I think it's a shame that Silverstone will no longer be on the calendar.

"It's a circuit with a great tradition and a lot of fast turns, which makes it really interesting for the fans attending the race as well as the drivers.

"Silverstone is only a short drive from our factory in Milton Keynes and nearly the entire Red Bull Racing and Red Bull Technology workforce will be at the track cheering for me and Mark so the atmosphere will be very special."

One man who knows all about winning at the track is former Red Bull star David Coulthard who currently works as a Red Bull F1 Ambassador.

He said: "Before I started racing in 1990, I remember standing at Stowe corner listening to a V12 Ferrari coming out of the morning mist through Maggotts on to Hangar Straight.

"You could hear it before you could see it and, in those days, the engines all sounded very different: a V12 against a V8, so, of course, you knew it was a Ferrari coming and it was a shiver-down-your-spine moment that I have never forgotten.

"In terms of my own racing career, winning at Silverstone back-to-back and in 2000 was pretty special also it'll be another 992 years before someone can win it in two millennia, so that's one record that should stay for a while!

"I think that Silverstone is a high-speed, get stuck in, challenging race track and given the free choice I'd rather race at Silverstone than Donington."

MK Dons' league fixtures on-line

IT'S every football fan's favourite day of the year today as the league fixtures are announced.

The Dons have also been drawn a home tie against Swindon Town in the first round of the Carling Cup.

Roberto Di Matteo's side will host the Robins at stadi-ummk the week beginning August 10.

The tie will see a return to Milton Keynes for former Dons boss Danny Wilson, whose Swindon side will be looking to maintain the good record they held over the Dons last season.
